Why are CIDA accreditation standards always changing?

CIDA believes in future-focused and flexible standards for interior design education.

CIDA standards are continually updated to reflect contemporary and emerging factors influencing interior design practice, from technology to human behavior, health and wellness to global issues and other dynamic trends.

Interested in learning more about the trends, technologies and disciplines that are shaping the future of the interior design practice? Find the latest CIDA Summit report on our website.

https://www.accredit-id.org/summitreport

2 FORECASTING SUMMIT

Annual summit of CIDA Board and design leaders to consider impact of the environmental scans on the profession of interior design.

3 PROPOSE REVISIONS

Standards Committee uses data from field audits and Forecasting Summit to propose revisions to standards.

Standards are issued 6 months to one year prior to implementation.

Field audits of revised standards are conducted to identify potential issues.